I'm not sure I'm the rite person you should all hear this from, but you should all know that the 5 tribes previously using Environment International (EI) as their shared consultant for the Portland Harbor Project are no longer using EI. We have been asked to remove EI addresses from our e-mail groups. I suggest you remove Aron Borok's name from future e-mails.

Subject: Field Day equipment quotes

Hello Team:

Attached is the breakdown of the best quotes received from several rental companies in Portland. Please note that the totals include:

- 25 8' tables
- 50 Samsonite chairs
- 1 15'x30' main tent

The Excel sheet includes the cost of individual 10' x 10' canopies to go over the 8-foot booth tables. However, they are not factored into the total because they would be offered to groups as an "option." My guess is that they are too expensive and would be cost-prohibitive and that groups would opt to bring their own inexpensive pop-up tents.

I would recommend going with Peter Corvallis Productions because of cost and known name. Let me know what the budget will handle and advise me on next steps for placing the order and finalizing logistics. Thanks.

Vicki
